HARMONY

a new quality in library interiors

THE newer libraries have conclusively proved the value of harmonious interiors. Not only from a standpoint of beauty and individuality but from that of an atmosphere of restfulness conducive to quiet and study. An increasing number of libraries call on the nearest L. B. designer for constructive suggestions in consultation with their architects. The result is harmony of architecture and furnishings, proper spacing and equipment, a decided increase in library efficiency.

Benefit from L. B. experience. Write to your nearest L. B. man today. No obligation entailed for this service worth inestimable value.

A BODYGUARD of TEN

Given command of words, a child has gained much—given command of numbers and he has completed the background of all education. The child should be as familiar with the ten digits as he is with the twenty-six letters.

BRADLEY ARITHMETIC ITEMS

make numbers interesting, just as the Bradley Silent Reading Materials make reading interesting. They stress the tangible application of the number concept and so bring home to the child the real meaning of arithmetic.

SELF-VERIFYING SEAT WORK

Introducing a new self-verifying principle. The problem cards are punched so that if the correct answer card is selected the holes will come into alignment through the entire stack. Holes do not match with incorrect answers.

No. 8026—The 90 Division Facts.....Price, $0.40
No. 8029—The 100 Subtraction Facts.....Price, $0.40

MARKET DAY PROBLEMS

No. 8378—One of the most successful arithmetic games ever invented. The child actually "keeps store" and sells the various items shown on the cards. A delightful game and a most practical method of teaching arithmetic. Price, $0.60.

SELF-TESTING MULTIPLICATION CARDS

No. 8006—The appearance of this material and the unusual method of checking the answers introduces an element of play which appeals to the child. While principally used for multiplication work, the material may also be used for drill work in division. Price, $0.60.

THE JORDAN COMPLETE NUMBER CARD

No. 8088—A practical and constructive method for teaching arithmetic. The cards are carefully graded to cover all phases of work through the 3rd year. Price, $0.30.

THE MISSING NUMBER DRILL

No. 8162—The small numbers are cut up into small tablets which are then arranged over the question marks on the large card to show the correct answer. An excellent review drill. Price, $0.25.

The New Gregg Shorthand Manual Anniversary Edition

Ready May 1, 1929

A scientific presentation of the principles of Gregg Shorthand in accordance with the latest pedagogical procedure, marking a stimulating step forward in the teaching and learning processes, and furnishing an invaluable contribution to commercial education.

Salient Points

1. In the New Manual, shorthand is distinctly presented as a skill subject. The principles and wordsigns are arranged in the order of their frequency in the most commonly used words. Under this arrangement a useful business and general vocabulary is acquired with astonishing rapidity. As an illustration, the mastery of the first chapter alone will enable the student to write 42 per cent of the words encountered in non-technical English. Further illustration of the correctness of this approach is found in the fact that short business letters can be introduced in the first chapter. The motivating influence of this procedure will be at once recognized.
2. The rules are more simple, direct, and definite, and abundant drill is provided for each. In harmony with modern pedagogy, the rules have been relegated to their proper place—in the background of the learning process of a skill subject.
3. The principles are presented in 12 chapters, instead of the 20 lessons appearing in the present Manual making possible a marked reduction in the time of learning. Measure this economy in dollars and cents to the hundreds of thousands who annually study shorthand. Prefixes and suffixes have been considerably reduced to conform to the findings of our scientific research, and are introduced in the order of frequency.
4. Each chapter is subdivided into three short logical teaching units. The reading and dictation material has been more than doubled. The book contains 36 pages of graded letters and sentences in shorthand, and 12 pages in type to furnish constructive practice.
5. The pedagogical organization of the book is greatly enhanced by the use of larger type and a bolder, more easily read style of shorthand than is employed in the present Manual.

You will be delighted with the ease and rapidity with which useful stenographic skill may be developed by the procedure in the new Gregg Shorthand Manual.

Place your order at once with our nearest office.

Better Work and Greater Interest with Sheldon Home Economics Tables

Students and teachers are inspired to do their best work in Sheldon equipped home economics departments.

The picture shows the beauty, the sturdy construction and the utility of Sheldon tables for domestic science. Notice the sanitary base which permits sweeping beneath the table, the convenient vitreous enameled table height stove, the handy swinging stools that are there when you want them and may be swung out of the way in an instant, the large cupboards and drawers and the attractive plastic enamel top guaranteed against in any way becoming unsanitary in regular use. This table is Sheldon No. 4120 accommodating four students — one of the many designs for domestic science.

RADIOLAS "18" and "60" for the classroom

Product of RCA, General Electric and Westinghouse, the RCA Radiola is recognized as the finest achievement in radio instruments.

The "18" and "60" models are recommended for school use, because of their technical superiority as well as adaptability to classroom requirements.

RCA also has devised Centralized Radio Equipment, making possible the operation of any number of loudspeakers in different rooms by a single receiver, or any number of receivers from a single antenna. Complete information regarding this may be had by writing the Radio Corporation of America.

RCA RADIOLA 60—The super-selective, super-sensitive Super-Heterodyne, finest achievement in radio. For A. C. operation. $147 (less Radiotrons).

RCA LOUDSPEAKER 100A—Sturdily-built, beautifully-toned reproducer to use with the "18" or "60" Radiola. $29.

RCA RADIOLA 18—Most popular type of Radiola ever offered. Tuned-radio-frequency. $95 for A. C. model; $110 for D. C. model (less Radiotrons).

Latest Improvements in Unit Heating and Ventilating

backed by 38 years of specialized experience

Many important new features have been developed for PeerVent Heating and Ventilating Units during the past several months. In fact, ALL of the important features — radiator, motor, fans, and controls — have been improved. These improvements, made by the pioneer manufacturers of Heating and Ventilating Units, should have your careful consideration.

Adjustable motors are now standard equipment on PeerVent Units. Once set, these motors run at constant speed, to deliver the exact c. f. m. capacity required.

PeerVent Units can now be equipped with the PeerTherm Control as an integral part of the Unit. This device controls the fresh-air damper.

Catalogue C-3 on request.

Here, Slate has been used for a variety of purposes in which the prime requisite was absolute permanency.

For Uniformity See that Slate Comes from a Single Source

If you "shop around," it is quite possible that you can save a few cents sometimes on your slate. But you run the risk of loss, delay, dissatisfaction and lack of uniformity.

Why buy your stair treads here, your blackboards there, your shower stalls somewhere else, if by so doing you multiply the chances of trouble? Keenan Slate is absolutely uniform in color, quality, workmanship and price. Keenan Service is uniformly accurate and prompt. Don't shop around—consult Keenan!

"An admirable text"

is what the Catholic School Journal calls

Brother Leo's English Literature

It goes on to say, "It is not only a survey and a commentary on English literature but it is also an authentic piece of literature in itself. It will charm and instruct wherever it makes its way." Catholic schools and colleges as well as Catholic educational journals have been quick to recognize that "English Literature" is a book of great distinction and a teaching tool of practical value. Many schools all over the country have adopted it since its recent publication.
